Неділя Всіх Святих

Тропар:

Спомин про Тебе, Христе Боже наш, засвітив світові день празничний. Від Тебе бо рибалки навчилися приносити Тобі безкровну жертву хліба й вина і так творити про Тебе божественний спомин, який ми празнуємо, співаючу: Господи, слава Тобі!

Прокімен:

Нагодував їх тістом пшеничним і медом з каменя наставив їх.

Червень – Місяць Божої Любові

Як у травні вся Церква – духовенство і вірні – моляться особливим способом до Пресвятої Богородиці через так звані “маївки”, так у місяці червні Церква присвячує велику увагу молитвам до Христа Чоловіколюбця, молячись молебні до Серця Христового. В травні вся Церква співала “Пресвятая Богородице, спаси нас!”, а в червні наші храми наповнені співом “О Пресвяте Серце Ісуса, помилуй нас!”. у наступну п’ятницю після П Неділі по Зісланні Святого Духа – 8-го червня – Празник Найсолодшого Господа нашого Ісуса Христа чи “Христа Чоловіколюбця” або “Серця Христового”. Тому і ми протягом цього часу будемо розважати про Божу любов.

Любов Бога Творця до людини-сотворіння – це основна ниточка всього об’явлення – Бог себе об’являє людині, щоб людина змогла зрозуміти найбільш важливу життєву істину – без Бога і Його любові нормально людина прожити життя неспроможна. Вже сам факт існування-сотворення людини є виявом Божої любові, але якщо людина своєю свобідною волею не вибере жити з Богом – у неї не буде ані доброго теперішнього життя, ані надії на щасливу вічність. І так, як дитина для свого нормального розвитку потребує знати і відчувати батьківську і материнську любов, подібно і кожна людина, щоби смакувати життя і тішитися ним, потребує знати і відчувати, що вона є люблена Господом Богом.

God is glorified in His Saints - Sunday of All Saints

Catholic and Orthodox Christians are sometimes criticized by people because of the reverence we show to the saints. Critics may feel that we ignore the Lord, preferring to pay homage to favorite saints. For us, the saints are the “proof” that the Holy Spirit truly came upon the Church at Pentecost. The holiness of their lives points to the grace of the Holy Spirit powerfully working in our world. The saints reveal to us the “face” of the Holy Spirit manifest in the Church. For this reason Byzantine Churches celebrate the Feast of All Saints on the first Sunday after Pentecost, whether their names are known or not. Wherever the Holy Spirit has been at work in the Church, saints have been raised up to the glory of God.

In the Epistle to the Hebrews we read of a number of Old Testament figures renowned in Israelite history for their righteous lives or powerful deeds. Today’s epistle mentions that; some were powerful and defeated their enemies while others were tortured and put to death. Still others lived righteous lives in hiding and “wandered in deserts and mountains, living in caves and holes in the ground” (Hebrews 11:38). In either case nothing they could do could bring them eternal life. That would only become possible through Jesus Christ and His Church. “These were all commended for their faith, yet none of them received what had been promised, since God had planned something better for us so that only together with us would then be made perfect” (Hebrews 11:39-40). We can conclude that the gift of the Holy Spirit dwelling in the believer far exceeds the glory won by the rulers, soldiers and prophets of Israelite history. We can also strive to draw close to the One who is everywhere present, filling all things.

There is no one more filled with the Holy Spirit that she who is “full of grace,” the most holy Mother of God. Like her the holy prophet, forerunner and Baptist John has a unique place among Christians as, in Christ’s own words, “among those born of women there has not risen one greater than John the Baptist” (Mt 11:11). In addition to them, there are countless figures from every age in Christian history honored as saints by the various local Churches. In the Byzantine Churches it has become customary to consider the saints as belonging to (cont. pg. 3) one or another of the following categories:

Prophets – God's Old Testament spokesmen such who called the Jews back to the true God and His ways whenever they strayed.

Apostles – The Twelve closest followers of Christ as well as the Seventy who were their companions: eye-witnesses to the presence of Christ on earth.

Evangelists – The Gospel writers Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Hierarchs – Sainly bishops who imitate Christ the Teacher.
Righteous Ascetics – Giants in the monastic life, both men and women, including elders (guides in the spiritual life) and solitaries, living in forest or wilderness.

Martyrs – Those who gave their lives witnessing to Christ, from the Great Martyrs of the Roman persecutions, to the new martyrs who died under modern dictators or religious extremists.

Hieromartyrs – Hierarchs and priests who sacrificed their own lives as well as offered the Divine Sacrifice of Christ.

Confessors – Those who survived torture or imprisonment for the Lord but escaped with their lives.

Unmercenaries – Those who gave of their talents freely to help the poor and the sick.

Fools for Christ – Those who pretended to be mentally incompetent so that their spiritual gifts would not be noticed and be praised.

Passionbearers – Those who accepted suffering, even death, rather than to repay violence with more violence.

Who makes Saints? Ultimately, of course, it is God who makes people holy by giving them the gift of the Holy Spirit. When people make this gift their own and live a heroic life in Christ, others recognize it. When a local Church recognizes that one of its sons or daughters has lived an exceptional Christian life and gives evidence that they are now in glory, it publicly proclaims him or her to be a saint. In the Eastern Orthodox Churches it is the local Church (such as the patriarchate of Constantinople or the Church of Greece) which declares saints. In the East this process is called glorification. In the West recognition of saints is called canonization (inclusion on the canon or list of saints) and is proclaimed by the Pope of Rome.
