ЩО ТАКЕ АНГЕЛ?

Продовження

Ще дивніше знайти таку ж думку, висловлену святим Іваном Дамаскином, який знав праці Псевдо Діонісія на цю тему, якою він дуже захоплювався. Висловлюючи деякі сумніви щодо справжньої природи Ангела та визначаючи його як асоматос (безтілесний), він зрештою погоджується з сучасною філософією називання ангельської природи «об'ємною та матеріальною» у порівнянні з Богом: «Ангел — це інтелектуальна субстанція, наділена свободою, постійно активна, безтілесна, служача Богу, яка досягла безсмертя даром благодаті, форма та межі субстанції якої відомі лише його Творцю. Однак, кажуть, що вона безтілесна та нематеріальна лише стосовно нас, бо все, що порівнюється з Богом, Який єдиний незрівнянний, виявляється об'ємним та матеріальним. Тільки божественна природа є нематеріальною та безтілесною». На Заході святий Григорій Великий, хоча й не повністю вільний від філософії «духовних тіл», рішуче схиляється до думки Псевдо Діонісія, який вважає Ангелів чистими духовними істотами.

WHAT IS AN ANGEL?

Continuation

It is more surprising to find the same opinion expressed by Saint John Damascene, who knew the writings of Pseudo Dionysius on this subject for which he had great admiration. While expressing some hesitation regarding the true nature of an Angel and while defining him as asomatos (without a body) he finally agrees with the current philosophy of calling the angelic nature "gross and material" if compared to God: "An Angel is an intellectual substance, endowed with liberty, perpetually active, without a body, serving God, having attained immortality by a gift of grace, the form and the limits of whose substance only its Creator knows. However, it is said to be incorporeal and immaterial only in reference to us, for anything compared to God, Who alone is incomparable, is found to be gross and material. The divine nature alone is immaterial and incorporeal." In the West, Saint Gregory the Great, while not completely free of the philosophy of "spiritual bodies," inclines vigorously toward the opinion of Pseudo Dionysius that makes the Angels pure spiritual beings.

Fish Fry News

We are over joyed with the great turn out we had of support from our parishioners and community!

With selling 500+ dinners every Friday, delicious homebaked sweets at our bakery table, delicious and decorated Paskas and the fresh and smoked Kobasa that many bought for Easter.

We would like to thank the volunteers for their dedicated support before, during and after to make this a successful event.

May Crowning- Special Thank You

The OLPH Sodality thanks everyone who attended our May Crowning. We want to especially thank the Children's Choir for their sweet voices, and the Tsiupryk family for their beautiful daughter Evelina for being our May Queen of 2026. It was disappointing to see a small group of people attend the honoring our Holy Mother, Mary. We sure would like to see this tradition grow in the coming years. So please mark your calendar for the first Saturday of May 2027. We continue to pray to God for our parish.
